Artist's statement

Going beyond the interest in place and location, works have been carried out related to various themes such as the people and culture that form and divide spaces, establishing relationship with people, and failures in such efforts. In the past, pertinent places were visited in order to analyze the defined perspectives and ideological compositions and reflect the process of relationship building in the works. At present, the focus is more on sociopolitical stories directly and indirectly connected to a certain place and location.

In using single moving image, the purpose lies in showing various aspects of reality through unique visual language and set-up methods, rather than confined to re-enacting subjective experiences or showing voyeuristic records.
